ARMY BLUE as a uniform color traces its origins to the National Blue first worn by Soldiers in the Continental Army of 1779, and it continued to serve as the color for Army dress uniforms even after introduction of the olive drab field service uniform in 1902.

Now the Army is returning to one, blue, Army Service Uniform. This reduction of the number of uniforms will reduce the burden on Soldiers for purchase and alteration costs.

The new uniform will include a gold braid on the trousers for sergeants and above, and the service cap will be authorized for wear by NCOs as well as officers.

Clothing sales stores should begin carrying the new uniforms in the fourth quarter of FY 2007, with a mandatory possession date scheduled for the fourth quarter of FY 2011.

Information about the blue Army Service Uniform and its composition is available at www.army.mil/symbols/uniforms.
